

Computer Prodigy at Age 8

Anwar Ahmad

ABU DHABI — At the tender age of eight when most kids love games, Mohammed Saleh Bihubayyib knows Windows XP, Microsoft Word, PowerPoint, Excel, Access and the Internet like the back of his hand.

A student of Liwa International School in Al Ain, this third grader enlisted himself in a three-month International Computer Driving Licensing (ICDL) course organised by the Khawarizmi International College (KIC) during his summer vacation last year.

And on Tuesday, the college awarded him with a degree during the graduation ceremony here.

Mohammed, who was accompanied by his parents to the ceremony, is determined to become a scientist.

Speaking with Khaleef Times, Bihubayyib said, "I have a keen interest in computers and I have just learnt this when I was seven. Today I feel on a high

223 Get Associate Degrees

ABU DHABI — Khawarizmi International College (KIC) awarded associate degrees in computer studies and business administrations to 223 students of the 2008-09 batch on Tuesday.

Sixty-one students of computer studies and 82 of business administration from Abu Dhabi KIC and 43 students (computer studies) and 37 (business administration) from Al Ain branch of KIC received their degrees, Anas Sabik, corporate team leader of KIC, said. Eight best students from each group of subjects in Abu Dhabi and Al Ain were honoured with medals.

A large number of students arrived at the venue with their parents to witness the graduation ceremony, while teachers and patrons cheered them on.

A number of UAE government officials and diplomats were also present.

anwar@khaleeftime.com

to achieve this prestigious degree."

Bihubayyib himself narrated the success story of his achievements in fluent English. "There were seven tests for achieving this degree and I passed all," Bihubayyib said.

About his hobbies, Bihubayyib said, "I like drawing and doing mathematics."

The ICDL courses include Windows XP, Word, PowerPoint, Excel, Access and Internet, Bihubayyib said.

Bihubayyib completed the course from KIC Al Ain branch.

News Reference